WorkOne Hosts Summer Camps to Highlight Career Opportunities

"It's going great! I love it! I am so happy you suggested it to me. I would do it again if I could." - Bree Wheeler

"The camp is going great. I'm really learning about the body and objects with surgery." – Ryan Lumsdon

Health Careers Camp

Those comments were from two local students who attended the Medical Careers Health Camp this summer. Held at the Landsbaum Center for Health Education in Terre Haute, the students learned about wide range of medical topics. The students discussed and participated in CPR, RHIC Simulation Center hands-on learning, Union Hospital Tour, job shadowing inquiries, cadaver lab, Tai Chi, career profile, community engagement project, EMT/Paramedic demo, nursing skills, suturing skills, healthy cooking, culminating project, job interviewing and resume writing. Speakers provide information on careers in Social Work, Dietetics, Gerontology, Health Science, Physical Therapy, and Nursing. The group also had a visit from the Edgar County EMS to learn about first responders.

Entrepreneurship Camps

Health Care wasn't the only camp available this summer. WorkOne sponsored camps that helped students explore career opportunities in numerous fields.

At the Entrepreneurship Camps, held in Sullivan and Terre Haute, students learned about marketing a product. Topics included, Business Etiquette, How to select a product, measuring success and financial concerns. The students met several guest speakers as well as taking several tours of local businesses. At the end of the camp, they even got to make a product pitch to local community leaders, including Sullivan Mayor Clint Lamb.

In addition to their "pitches", students also became Google Mobile Site certified. The Mobile Sites certification is a professional accreditation that Google offers to individuals who demonstrate proficiency in basic and advanced aspects of mobile website design and development. A Mobile Sites certification allows individuals to demonstrate that Google recognizes them as an expert in mobile sites.

The top finishers at the Terre Haute Camp were:

1st - Cheyenne Cox

2nd - Carina Elder

3rd - Mari Gonzalez

Top finishers at the Sullivan Camp were:

1st Place - Kaylee Honaker

2nd Place - Elizabeth Chandler

3rd Place - Zach Storms, Paige Ross, and Cortni Adams

IC3 Camp

Many of us know how to use computer software, but do we really know what the actual computer is made of? The students at this year's IC3 (Internet Core Computing Certification) camp got to learn about the inner workings of computers. The IC3 Camp, students built their own laptop. Students learned to assemble their laptop and install necessary software. At the end of the camp, the students had fully functional laptop to use.

Manufacturing Camp

Manufacturing continues to be a large part of our Region's economy. So once again, WorkOne sponsored a CNC Machining camp at Ivy Tech Corporate College. The students were able to learn about the basic set up of CNC machines. Students ran operated the machine to create finished part as well as earning their first NIMS (National Institute of Metalworking Skills) credential.

Congratulations to all of the students who attended the camps.
Thank you to all of the community partners who assisted in making the camps a success.

Cloverdale JAG Student Wins Scholarship

As part of its continuing mission of giving back to local communities, Endeavor Communications recently presented $4,000 in 2018 Cedric Ray Memorial Scholarships to four students at Cloverdale High School. The winners demonstrated exceptional scholastic achievement and reside in the Endeavor service area. Kathy Morgan of Endeavor, presented each college bound student $1,000 for them to use toward continuing education tuition costs.

The winners were Nick Smith, who plans to study aviation and become a pilot; Lisa Hess will be entering a history program; Anne Williams is pursuing a degree in nursing; and Taylor Goss sees her future in agribusiness.

"Brilliant young adults bring such enthusiasm to Cloverdale. Endeavor strives to partner with our youth and are privileged to support our community," expressed Kathy Morgan, Customer Engagement and Media Relations Coordinator.

Cedric Ray was an outgoing and generous spirit who exemplified service and giving back to one's community. We are proud to honor Mr. Ray, by supporting educational opportunities of our youth through these scholarships.

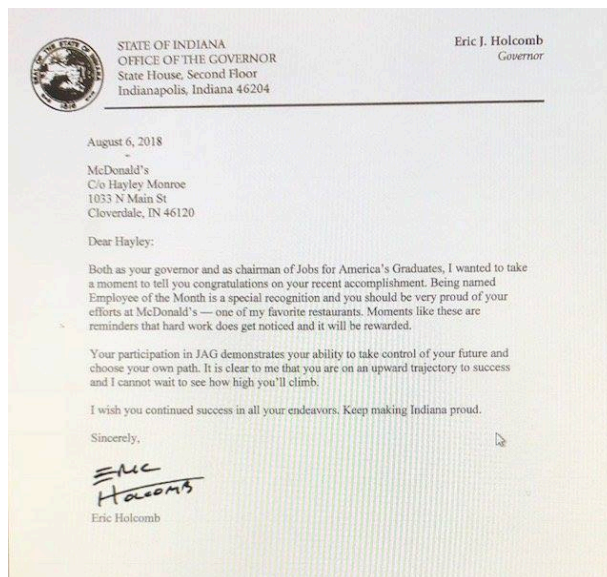

Cloverdale JAG Student Named Employee of the Month

Cloverdale JAG Student Hayley Monroe was recently named McDonalds Employee of the Month!

In addition to the local recognition, Hayley also received a letter from Indiana Governor Eric Holcomb congratulating her on her honor.

Way to go Hayley!

New JAG Class Begins at Parke Heritage

In the fall of 2018, Parke Heritage became the newest school in Indiana. The school resulted from the consolidation of Turkey Run and Rockville High Schools.

The JAG program started at Turkey Run High School will now move to the new school and become available to even more Parke County students!

Welcome Parke Heritage to JAG!
